Commencer of the residence of the reside The Times' Daily Short Story.

ORDEREN BEREIR BEREIR BEREIR BEREIR BEREIR BEREIR A REPUTATION | as the latter part was false. Mrs. Gess-SAVED

(Original.)

Not the martial music, dress parade, guard mounting, Indeed, any or all the fascinating attendants of military life, can relieve the tedium that comes over a remote post when the inmates have once seen enough of one another. So thought pretty Mrs. Gessnor, the young wife of Lieutenant Earl Gessnor, and when it was announced that her busband's chum at West Point was coming to join them she was greatly pleased.

For a week after White's arrival he and his friend Gessnor were inseparable; then Gessuor was ordered away on a special duty to be gone several weeks. He told White that his wife, who was city bred, found it dull at the post and charged him to keep her in spirits.

White began by acceding to his friend's request, but soon discovered that Mrs. Gessnor was being carried off her feet in a mad passion for him. Reserve, even hauteur, on his part availed nothing to check her. To avoid trouble he secured an order temporarily taking him away from the post.

One morning be rode away on horse back. Mrs. Gessnor called for her horse and rode after him to bring him back. Whether her recklessness had suddenly become apparent to her and she feared his absence might attract attention to her folly or whether she could not endure his ill opinion, she did not know herself. She was shooting like a shuttle from one emotion to another.

There was at the post a Mrs. Major Walsh, who had long known and looked upon Lieutenant White with covetous eyes. It so happened that on the morning of White's departure Mrs. Walsh was being driven by an orderly in a buckboard on the road he had taken, and she suddenly came upon him pleading with Mrs. Gessnor, who sat in the saddle irresolute. That threw the winning eards into the hands of Mrs. Walsh. Conscious of her advantage she was in no haste. She waited until Gessnor had returned and White had returned, then opened a distressing fire on White. White was no fool, Moreover, he had a cool head. The problem before him was to save Mrs. Gessnor from the consequences of her rashness, himself from the charge of taking advantage of a brother officer through his wife and to save the friendship existing between himself and Gessnor. This problem be considered for hours, and it seemed to him that every move he might make must be in the wrong direction. However, he formed a plan and set about tenant White was concerned, but the putting it into operation. He convinced garrison was surprised at Mrs. Walsh's Mrs. Walsh that he was not in love departure, soon after White's going, with her rival, but was in love with for San Francisco, where her husband her. It is not difficult for us to be- afterward joined her, reporting for dulieve what we want to believe, and the ty at a post near by dist part of the proposition was as true nor was much liked by the ladies of the post and was above suspicion, while to the latter. He must find means at once to spike the gun with which she would kill Mrs. Gessnor: There was also an enemy in his rear in Mrs. Gessnor, who, despite her perllous position. could not bear to see the man she adored devoted to her enemy. He had two women to manage, both of whom were in love with him and either of lie dedication of the Subway tayern, a to injure the other. One night the officers of the post got up a masquerade. It was in the warm season and there was to be dancing on the parade as well as in the officers' mess hall. The weather was superb and the moon at the full. No fancy costumes could be procured at an army post, far from civilization, so the ladies made up a number of dominos of different colors which were to be used

During the festivities Lieutenant Gessnor noticed a masculine figure in a yellow domino and a feminine figure in a red domino go out into the open. At the same time a figure in a white domino slipped up beside Gessnor and Gessnor followed the counte out on to the verands and on to the parade. There they danced in a set that was forming as they arrived, after which farther from the masqueraders till they reached a clump of trees back of the officers' quarters and sat down on a rustle bench.

Though the couple were in shadow Gessnor could see them plainly from a distance. Sufidenly be saw the man ber mask for a kiss. Infuriated, Gessnor rushed forward, tore off the woman's mask and revealed-Mrs. Major Gessner, deelining to look into the identity of the man, turned on his heel and left them.

Such was the result of Lieutenant White's plot. He had learned the color of Mrs. Walsh's domino, then instructed Mrs. Gessnor to tell her husband that she would wear a red one herself, was Mrs. Gessnor who had whispered had compromised her enemy and res-

The next day White at his own request seceived an order from the commandant to report at Washington, where he was assigned to duty. Both Mrs. Gessnor and Mrs. Walsh bore an unblemished reputation so far as Lieu-

MARY COOLIDGE.

THE KITCHEN DRESSER. It Was Originally a Beach on Which ed by Bees.

Dr. Johnson tells us that the kitchen dresser was a beach in the kitchen on a new and novel way of hatching ter could have occupied himself with which ment was dressed, or prepared, chickens and enjoys the reputation of for table and gives the following lines being the first man to use this kind of far too many saloons in New York city, in support of his view: "Tis burnt, and so is all the meat. | cial dispatch to the Chicago Inter What dogs are these? Where is the rascal Ocean. He uses the heat generated

How durst you, villains, bring it from the Meat Was Dressed.

And serve thus to me that love it not? -Shakespeare. A maple dresser in her hall she had, On which full many a stender meal she made. -Dryden dinner time he brought forth and will not be long until bees are conspread on the table in sight of his sidered as indispensable to the farmer to more advantage, the table was made with shelves or steps, on which the different articles could be arranged in rows, one above another. It was called in French, or Anglo-Norman, a dressolr, because on it the different articles were dresses, or arranged."

It is this to which the modern poet

The pewter plates on the dresser -Caught and reflected the flame, as shields of armies the sunshine.

Ginnt Ocean Liner.

It is announced at Montreal that a new Cunard liner to ply between New York and Queenstown will be built at will be utilized as a gallery. The re-Newcastle-on-Tyne, says an Ottawa maining part of the second story will dispatch to the New York Tribune. It be taken up with parlors, reading will be the largest vessel ever put in rooms and Sunday school class rooms. the water from any shippard. It will In the basement will be a kitchen, dintake over two years to build, there being more work on it than on a first ing alley, gymnastum and a room for class battleship. It will have turning other games, The church will be open engines and will cross the Atlantic in less than five days. The length will be 700 feet, breadth 87 feet, depth 60 feet, guaranteed speed twenty-five knots. It will accommodate 2,600 pas-

Dogs With Souls.

Dr. Richard Hodgson of Boston, sec retary of the Society For Psychological Research, in an interview the other day declared that dogs had souls as ary too."-Chicago Tribune. well as human beings and that the lower animals had mind pletures of things and events just as clearly as human beings, says the New York Tribune. "There is, however," he says, "some doubt as to their power to communicate these pictures to human be- Bits. ings by telepathy. With Rider Haggard's dog, I think it was a case of clairvoyance in which his sublimal self a baby in the house, there are also witnessed the very accident to the enough safety pins for the grown folks

ed. So far so good. But White could not long be devoted whom was liable to commit harkari | model saloon at Mulberry and Bleecker

Instead.

whispered, "Watch the red."

but to put on a white one instead. It the words in her husband's ear. They eved her from peril.

NOVEL CHICKEN HATCHER. Ohio Man Utilizes the Heat General-

Henry Decker of Hartsgrove, O., has an incubator, says a Geneva (O.) speby bees and says" that he can hatch 100 "chicks" from 100 fertile eggs in nineteen days.

This beats the old hen by two days, and every farmer who knows how to handle bees might profit by this suggestion. If one colony of bees can be Wright, in his "Domestic Manners of made to do the incubating work of the Middle Ages," says: "One of the eight or nine hens, and also produce great objects of ostentation in a rich from 140 to 400 pounds of honeyman's house was his plate, which at which Mr. Decker says is possible-it guests. Afterward, to exhibit the plate as rural mail delivery and felephone service.

Church With Features of a Club.

A Christian church which will be erected at Concordia, Kan., shortly will be an innovation in church edifices, says the Topeka Capital. It will resemble a modern residence more than an orthodox house of worship. The building will be a plain, square structure, consisting of two stories and a basement, with a large veranda on one side the entire length of the building. The main auditorium will be on the first floor, and part of the second floor ing room and social rooms, also a bowlseven days in the week and twenty four hours a day.

Anturni Cause.

"I have been told," remarked the visitor in Salt Lake City, "that your lake is drying up. What seems to be the cause ?"

"I guess, mister," said the native, "if you had as much salt in you as that there lake's got you'd be gittin' purty

The Difference.

The Impecunions-It is just as easy to love a girl with money as to love one without it. The Heiress-But it isn't so easy to get her.-Loudon Tit-

Look on the bright side. If there is to help themselves.-Atchison Globe.

THE SUBWAY TAVERN.

Criticisms of Bishop Petter's Model New York Saloon.

Mrs. Waish was neither liked nor trust- DIVERSITY OF OFINIONS EXPRESSED

Some Pastors Praise Fearless Independence of the Movement-The Bishop's Participation In Dedicating Model Saloon Unnecessary, Says Robert Graham-View of a Woman Temperance Worker.

By his recent participation in the pubstreets, in New York, the announced object of which is to lessen the evils of intemperance, Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York has provoked a veritable tempest of protests, denunciations and criticism from elergymen and prohibi- bulletin in front of the place. tionists in all parts of the country, says the New York Herald.

Bishop Potter is a trustee of the Church Temperance society in New York. Robert Graham, a leading temperance worker and founder of the soelety, who visited the Subway tavern. said that, in his opinion, Bishop Potter had laid himself open to severe criticism in helping to add another to New York's already large number of saloons. Many clergymen also objected to Bishop Potter's statement that the effort to abolish the saloon was "one of the most comic and tragic failures of history." Scores of letters and telethey strolled about, getting farther and grams reached the bishop from men and women eminent in the temperance cause, plending with him to reconsider his course in helping to advertise a saloon and soda water fount from which beer was sold.

At the Subway tayern however, the If Sister Nation were only here! denunciations of clergymen and tempertake the woman in his arms and raise | ance advocates had the effect of causing a golden harvest to fill the east registers. Thirsty and curious throngs began to fill the place during the early morning hours, and the rush continued He said: until the tavern doors were closed for the night. Taking advantage of the fact that his establishment for the time being occupied a prominent place in the public eye, the manager of the tavern placed a big blackboard beside the front entrance on which the following legend was scrawled in chalk;

"Yes, this is the saloun dedicated by Bishop Potter. You are welcome."

Joseph Johnson, the taveru manager business was booming. "I'll tell you one thing," said Johnson, "I have been here since the opening, and not a sin-

In discussing his visit to the tavern and Bishop Potter's attitude regarding the novel institution Mr. Robert Graham, founder and manager of the Church Temperance society, said: "I his presence to the dedication of the tavern meant to antagonize the temperance movement. He is, it is true, a trustee of the Church Temperance sonever attends our meetings.

said by many persons that Bishop Potbetter employment. As it is there are and it seems rather unnecessary, to say the least, for the bishop to aid in adding another to the list.

"The unwise feature of the saloon, in my opinion, however, is the soda fountain where beer is sold. A place where women may enter and seat themselves to drink soda, beer or stronger drinks is not likely to aid in lessening the evils of Intemperance. There can be no two opinions about the danger of a place of this sort which is sanctioned by high church authorities leading young men Into temptation. Personally I think it is a great mistake for them to sell whisky. Those who are working for the public good should not be liquor saloon keepers,

"I am glad my hand is not in this movement, for I do not believe that a church organization has the right to provide liquors. I have talked with Earl Grey about moderate drinking in England. He told me of three small places in Scotland where the saloons were entirely controlled and directed by the workingmen. In these places the plan was successful, but Earl Grey has not yet solved the liquor problem for large cities, which is the problem we face today. I do not believe in attacking this tayern from all points. Its promoters should have a fair opportunity to prove their claims, and I hope they will be equally fair about admitting their failure if they fail. Much depends on the men in charge, and I hope the directors have chosen wisely.

Many members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union did not hesitate to express their disapproval of the bishop's course. Mrs. Belle de Rivera, vice president of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs said that whatever might be the personal opinion and motive of Bishop Potter, he was supporting a scheme that was decidedly wrong. "It is a great pity," said Mrs. de Rivera, "that the hishop of New York should take the stand be has for any saloon, however it may be conducted. No matter whether it is a better drinkdrinking are bad in the great majority [ ] of cases, and no clergyman should give his sanction to intoxicants."

A woman with a Woman's Christian Temperance union budge came up Bleecker street early in the morning. says the New York Tribune. She was looking for the "dedicated" tavern, and she hoped to be disappointed. She ph-Ro-Dox is coming thousands in New Engto day;

APH-RO-DOX

you are "run down," feel listless and all out you have the cure in Aph. to. Lex.
tenths of Daysepass from which people
f so everely a nestions but a nervous deAph. to. Lex. is the soundors. Aph. to.
to the cesty tonic that regulates the is, toung the whole system at the same evenmented and prescribed by physicians upbent the world. Sold by all leading Aph-lio Dox used according to directions, with a fair, house, test.

CURES TO STAY CURED

$1.50 a large bottle.

knew the worst when she read the

"Yes; this is the saloon decicated by Bishop Potter yesterday. You are wel-

Below it were clippings from newspapers giving an account of the interesting ceremony- which formully launched the drinking place.

"The world is getting worse and worse," she declared, "when a thing like this is possible. I would not have believed it!"

Then she peaked into the "water wagon" department-at the soda fountain which also runs beer. She read this placard:

Served at this Fount.
GGOD SODA WATER and GOOD BEER ARE EQUALLY HARMLESS IF TAKEN TEMPERATELY. "That is a lying, misleading sign,"

she declared, "and I am sorry for the poor souls who will be led astray by it. Bishop Samuel Pallows of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church in Chicago lauds the action of Bishop Henry C. Potter. Bishop Fallows himself conducted a similar experiment in Chicago.

"Bishop Potter is one of the few men in the country who are endeavoring to deal in a practical manner with the saloon evil. His sympathies are with the workingman. In this Subway saloon movement he is following the plan adopted by Earl Grey and a very large number of the Church of England clergy. Conditions are different in this country, and American sentiment is not in favor of thus meeting the saloon expressed his satisfaction over the way problem. I thoroughly believe that the most feasible way of antagonizing the saloon is to provide a proper substitute, and in this substitute saloon no ingle intoxicated person has entered the toxicating liquors of any kind should be sold."

Among the most ardent advocates of temperance in New York are the Paulist Fathers, says the New York Herald. Rev. John J. Hughes said of Bishop do not think that the bishop by lending Potter's action that it reminded him of an incident that had happened in the church in Father Hecker's time.

"A man came here," he said, "and told Futher Hecker that he wanted to clety, but only nominally so, for he open a saloon in the parish. You know, he added, that I'm a good, law compuision. For the Japanese this is splushes into one of the glimmering abiding man, and I want to conduct a war for an idea, which penetrates all nockets. "But he has made himself Hable to abiding man, and I want to conduct severe criticism by making an address the saloon on good moral lines, and I at the opening of the saloon. It will be don't want you to oppose me in opening it. If you will consent I promise to > comply with any stipulations you may make for me in running it. "'All right,' Father Hecker answered, 'you can go ahead if you will comply with my conditions. The first is that you will have none but archangels for barkeopers." "It is unnecessary to say," continued Father Hughes, "that there was no need of mentioning the other conditions. My opinion on the subject is that laid down by all the Catholic bishops, who say in the decrees of the council of Baltimore as to those engaged in the sale of intoxicating liq-

"'Let them, if possible, choose some more benerable way of making a liv-

Bishop Potter's action, though condemned by some ministers in Cincinnati, is not without supporters. The Rev. Philip Y. Pendleton, Christian, is grieved by his example and regards his action as a regrettable mistake. The Rev. David Kinney, Reformed Presbyterian, says that the dedication of the taveru was "as incongruous as a prayer meeting in hell" and insists that the participator should be expelled from his church.

The Rev. C. W. Blodgett, Methodist, is emphatic in his condemnation. Rabbi Louis Grossman, Jewish; the Rev. Dudley W. Rhodes, Episcopal, and the Rev. Father Mackay, Roman Catholic. praise the fearless independence of the movement and see in it a philanthropic enterprise devoid of pedantry, not harmful, but in the end benedelal.

Chinese Soldier's Hatred of Russia. Governor General Tsen of Canton Is said to have urged the empress of Chins five times to declare war against Russia, and to have sent telegraphic messages to all the leading mandarins in the empire to support him.

A SKIN OF BEAUTY IS A JOY POREVER. DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S OBJENTAL, CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER Bourand's Cream

THE POINT IS JUST HERE RUSSIAN ON THE WAR

Staff Officer's Remarkable Letter to a Journalist.

So Dangerous an Enemy as the Japanese, He Declares, Russin Has Never Met-Russians Fight Indifferently, Under Compulsion, He Says-Why So Many Officers Are Killed.

The following extract from a letter of a Russian staff officer at the front, addressed to a journalist on a St. Petersburg paper, appeared in a recent number of the Stuttgart Osyobozhde nie, and requires no comment, says the London Times:

are occasionally compelled, for political reasons, to observe silence, we can all understand the reason. We can all understand why silence was malatained as to the loss of nearly 8,000 men at Vafangow (Telissu), and also as to the loss by one regiment of its colors, that sacred object of military honor. We can all understand why nothing was said as to our hasty retreat before an enemy only equal in numbers. But what we cannot understand is the effort made by journalists to keep the public in an optimistic frame of mind, to distort facts as much as possible and to write of that of which they know nothing. If you will read attentively the official report you will see that on June 14 the enemy had only two incomplete divisions, while we had two and a half. Moreover, with us a regiment consists of four battallons, save in the east Siberian units, which have three. We had also two brigades of artillerythat is, ninety-six guns-besides a Cossack horse battery with nine guns, the Primorsky dragoons and two regiments of Cossneks.

Our force, as you see, was not a small one. To the assistance of the Japanese came a division-the staff report says a brigade-of infantry with two or three batteries, while three regi ments were sent to us by sail. But you talk of this as our heroic battle with an antagonist three times our strength! We have always known how to die (with some exceptions), but this does not mean that an enemy so rare from a military point of view as the Japanese is not to be feared or deserves the contempt which our custom is to shower upon this civilized nation. I have a right to speak, for I have spent a considerable time in Japan, and I tell you frankly that L often blushed for my country when I compared many things there and here.

An enemy so dangerous, whether as regards persistence, readiness for war or moral strength, Russia has never met. Japan is a dangerous enemy for this reason: Our soldier, unfortunately, despite valor and resignation; is inferior to the Japanese soldier in discipline, and, what is still more important, fights with indifference, under compulsion. For the Japanese this is without exception, from the minister to the husbandman. Here you have the reason for such incidents as occurred at Chongchu-you are probably unaware of this-where the Cossacks refused to charge, and as a result we lost three officers. It is from this fact, and not from the color of the uniforms. which, ever since Kuropatkin's arrival, have been undistinguishable from those of the men, that the true reason is to be found for the large percentage of losses among the officers.

Our Transbalkal and Siberian Cossacks are our weak point. In consequence of their loose behavior and want of preparation for active service they are of little use to us.

Our officers, as a whole, especially those trained in the Junker schools, are undoubtedly inferior to the Japanese as regards professional training. The majority, it is needless to say, go under fire not for the sake of an idea (the only idea that could have any force with us would be self interest), but for the sake of tradition or for distinction. But they do not consciously die for their country's sake, for its good, because it is evident upon anything like an attentive consideration of the matter, that we are in the wrong. If you only knew what we did during the Chinese campaign! One's heart bleeds. It is not without reason that the Chinese stand openly on the side of the Japanese, their ancient enemies.

We have the greater chances of victory, but the guarantee of these chances lies in the Baltie squadron alone, for we cannot secure victory now by mere weight of numbers (on land) and still less in the future. Do you really assume that the Japanese have only thirteen divisions in their army, besides reserves? Are they really so naive as not to have increased this force during the last few years?

Given equal numbers on either side, there is, on our part-on the staff at any rate-no hope of absolute and indisputable victory after the refusal of the Twenty-second regiment to attack at Tuirencheng and after the terrible havoe wrought by the Japaness artillery at Vafankow.

Russia considers herself a great nation. Every great nation, in the person of its representatives, the organs of the press, should comport itself with dignity, should feel respect for a worthy foe, should not conceal its own. mistakes and should not indulge in barefaced self laudation.

Japan's Religious Tolerance. A Japanese prator declared at a recent meeting in Tokyo that from the viewpoint of religious tolerance Japan represents the twentieth century, Rus-ala the sixteenth.

FOR CHILD TRAVELERS.

Suggestion That Special Cars For Exclusive Occupancy Be Provided. An editorial writer in the New York Post makes a suggestion that will command much approbation from the traveling public, says the Boston Herald. HE BLUSHES FOR HIS COUNTRY. It is that the ratirond companies on trunk lines where there is much travel provide a special car for children in which they can be eared for by their parents and nurses, aided by some motherly experienced woman competent for the business, or left entirely to official care. Two good objects would thus be accomplished. The children would have a good time and people traveling without children would be much relieved. Here is the suggestion; The walls of the car should be pudded and the windows set high enough to insura abundant ventilation without the danger that any spirited youngster might climb out and be idlied. As a rule, children do out and be talled. As a rule, children do not care for scenery. There should be a few simple bits of gymmastic apparatus, a swing, a hobby horse, a skipping rope and a stock of strong toys and indestructible picture books. Instead of a porter there should be installed in command of this demain a patient, resourceful, motherly woman to perform the double function of nurse and mistress of the revels, suggesting new forms of entertalnment. If our official sources of Information suggesting new forms of entertainment, having an eye to the safety of the weaker in contact with the stronger children, acting as umpire in controversies and as emergency surgeon for the petry wounds of play and tucking the tired and sleepy enes into little cribs in a compartment in one end of the car.

> All the considerations affecting this innovation are thoughtfully worked out, and its great advantages are set forth with excellent humor. It is predicted that the company which establishes such a car, which, like a sleeping car or parlor car, would command special rates, would soon become popular. Whether the writer would have a strict requirement that all children should be transported in the special car provided for them is not stated. This is a delicate point. Perhaps the important object, the relief of those who do not relish traveling with children, could be accomplished by running special cars to which children are not admitted, according to the rule of some New York apartment houses.

RADIUM ROULETTE.

Game That Is Played In the Dark

Amid Ghnatly Silence. Radium roulette is the latest rage among sporty folk, says the New York Journal. The idea was imported to New York from Paris recently, and the man who brought it to New York, a guest of a well known uptown hotel, said that it has proved the biggest winner in the way of an innovation that New York has known in years.

Radium roulette is ordinary roulette, except that the apparatus is washed in a radium solution, and the game is played in a room in which there is not a ray of light.

In the midst of the darkness the wheel shines brightly, and rays shoot out and are lost in darkness. An unseen hand casts the silvery ball on the wheel, and as the wheel turns it resembles a mass of molten sliver. Tiny sparks mark the course of the ball us it bounds round and round and finally

The players have luminous chips, and the unseen croupler rakes them in or hands them out. All during the play there is the most ghastly silence. No player speaks-that is a part of the game. Ennuled Paris has found a thrill in it that has excited the bluse rounder, and in New York city it is expected that a similar result will fol-

Ex-Senator Davis' Locust Trees.

Ex-Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, seems never to have. calculated against an age limit, says Melville Davisson Post in Harper's Weekly. One afternoon in the present summer he was walking through the grounds of his beautiful estate at the town of Elkins, where he resides. He was accompanied by one of his superintendents, and the conversation ran upon the growth of trees. "These North Carolina poplars," said the ex-senator, "grow rapidly, but they are poor trees at the end." "Why don't you try some hardier trees?' responded the superintendent. "I have thought about the locust," ex Senator Davis answered. "Let me see, a locust grows about twenty-five luches in twenty years," and then musingly, "I think I shall put some out."

Trophy of Russo-Japanese War.

Among the trophies captured by the Japanese army on the occasion of the occupation of Nanshan hill was a pair of birds kept in a cage, which belonged to a Russian officer. The birds have been presented to the Japanese crown

The Finest Lake In the Adirondacks.

Via Adirondack Railroad to Riverside and Levett's Coaches and Steamer Evelyn.

HOTELS ON SCHROON LAKE. Leland House . . . . . . . . . C. T. Leland. Mgr. Schroon Lake, N. Y.

Ondawa House......F. C. Balley. Schroon Lake, N. Y. Taylor House (and 15 Cottages), C. F. Taylor, Ir., Mgr., Taylor's on Schroon, N. Y.

Watch Rock Hotel . . . . . . . George Cecil. Prop. Adirondack, N. Y. Moon Hill Camp ..... Miss Helen Warner, Prop. Pottersville, N. Y.

Wells House. . . . J. B. Wells, Prop. Pottersville, N. Y. For rates please write to the above addresses, also for booklets and further information.